Mistrial in the Beckwith Murder Trial

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A mistrial was declared today in the trial of Byron De La Beckwith, a crusading segregationist charged with murdering a Negro civil rights leader.

Circuit Court Judge Leon Hendrick declared the mistrial after the all-white jury, called for individual polling at the end of about 12 hours deliberation, declared themselves hopelessly deadlocked.

Beckwith sat quietly, his hands clasped in his lap as the judge asked individual jurors if there was any hope of a verdict.

Early predictions had been that the case would end in quick acquittal because of the deep passions due to racial aspects.

Hopeful Food Plan Will Be Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Harold D. Coolidge, (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee hopes to revive the food stamp bill that was rejected by his committee earlier this week.

The committee voted 19-14 to table the bill, which ordinarily would kill it for this session of Congress unless a strong effort is made to make another push.

There are several ways this could be done. The chairman could add some pending amendments to the rejected bill and bring it up as a new bill subject to another committee vote.

Another possibility is in a rule that any member who voted against the bill the first time has a right to ask for its reconsideration in committee. This could serve to revive the bill if one of the opponents changed his mind.

Five Southern Democrats voted with all 14 Republicans against the bill, which would make permanent a pilot food stamp program and expand it throughout the country.

Some committee members related the adverse vote to the civil rights debate on the House floor, saying the Democrats voted against the bill as a way of protest against the administration.

The bill was a key part of President Johnson's "war on poverty."

Under the plan needy families buy food stamps and get others free. The stamps can be exchanged in ordinary grocery stores for grocery items.

At present the pilot program is operating in 39 counties, including Independence County in Arkansas, and three cities. This limited program can be continued without further legislation.

Don't Worry Those Clothes Will Stretch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If those clothes on the rack look too small this spring, men, don't worry. They'll stretch.

Everything fashionable will be cut slim and trim. But if you're not built that way, clothes will pull in to fit sunken chests and stretch to accommodate paunches.

That's the 1964 male fashion look, decreed in a preview Thursday by the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers.

The colors—light, bright, bold plaids and checks. The fabrics—the new stretch kind, that mold the body and don't wrinkle. Some are iridescent. And almost all the fabrics drip-dry.

Other fashion notes: stretch shirts of cotton and nylon blends, self-belted slacks and washable shoes.

Oswald Was Abnormal After Trip to Russia

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Marina Oswald said today her husband became abnormal returning from Russia in 1962, and practiced shooting in the months preceding the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22.

In an interview, the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald said she realized his abnormality after an attempt on the life of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in Dallas on April 10.

Questioned by reporters as to why she did not immediately tell police about the sniper attack on Walker—which she said Oswald described to her — the slim Russian-born widow said: "Because I am his wife."

Speaking in halting English, Mrs. Oswald said she did not know why her husband fired the rifle shots in Dallas that killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally.

She made it plain she believed Oswald did do the shooting.

Before the assassination, she said, Oswald had never spoken against Kennedy to her. As to whether he might have been aiming at Connally, she said, "I don't know."

With a third of his monthly cigarette allowance — 1,000 yen ($2.80)—he bought 10 government lottery tickets.

One of his tickets won the first prize of 3 million yen ($8,400) Thursday.

Land Issue to Be Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge J. Smith Henley took under advisement Thursday a case involving 580 acres of farm land located on the south fork of the Little Red River in Van Buren County.

Bachelor brothers Linn, 73, and Britt Hunt, 63, owned the land before Army Engineers acquired it for Greers Ferry Reservoir.

Witnesses for the brothers testified Thursday in U.S. District Court at Little Rock that the land was worth $58,000 to $60,000. Engineers' appraisers said the property, seven miles southwest of Hilden, was worth $23,250.

Stage Set for Passage of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House moved into the final stages of the civil rights fight today with a threat that unpleasant things will happen if the leadership tries to speed the bill to a final vote.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, served warning that delaying tactics may be resorted to if efforts are made to cut off debate.

Smith sounded the warning after minority leader Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., sought approval for the House to meet before noon today and Saturday so a final vote can be taken by Saturday night.

Republicans want to have the 10-part bill behind them when they take to the speakers platform around the nation next at Lincoln Day rallies.

Halleck's request called for unanimous consent under the House rules, and Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., taking his cue from Smith's warning, made the single objection needed to block it.

Smith said the Democratic leadership had promised that no effort to cut off debate would be made if the bill could be finished by next Tuesday. Halleck said he had an agreement with the Democrats to finish the bill by Saturday night.

After Williams blocked an early session Halleck said "if motions are made to terminate debate, I'm going to support them."

"If efforts are made to violate solemn agreements," replied Smith, referring to the arrangement to finish by next Tuesday, "some unpleasant things can happen."

The fight over debate-limiting came as the opposing forces neared a major battleground of the 1964 civil rights act—the section dealing with equal job opportunities for Negroes.

The provision is one of two remaining tough ones. The other one would authorize the cutting off of federal funds for programs in which racial discrimination is practiced.

Achievement Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little Rock, Ark., won an achievement award in the National Cleanest Town Achievement Contest sponsored by the National Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau. Nashville, Tenn., won the top award. No other Arkansas cities were mentioned in Tuesday's announcement.

Hoffa Defense Attacks Judge, U.S., Witness

By GAVIN SCOTT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — The defense in James H. Hoffa's jury-tampering trial today attacked the judge, the government and called the chief prosecution witness "a traitor for the United States."

During a shouting, table-pounding hour with the jury excused, defense attorneys accused chief government prosecutor James Neal of signaling the witness, Louisiana Teamsters official Edward Partin, during cross-examination.

They demanded a mistrial for Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, and five others on trial with him on charges of trying to influence jurors in Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson overruled the mistrial motion, and refused a request by Hoffa's chief attorney, James Haggerty of Detroit, to pull out of the trial.

Haggerty accused the judge of allowing what he called "the decorum of a police court" in his federal court room.

"I move for a mistrial," said Haggerty, "and if that is not granted, under the circumstances I ask permission to withdraw from this case, because I cannot defend my client."

Harry Berke, Hoffa's Chattanooga, lawyer, complained that Judge Wilson had refused to allow him to present evidence he said would show Partin is "a traitor for the United States."

Berke handed the judge a pamphlet which he said would prove that Partin "has been working with Fidel Castro." Berke had asked Partin Thursday, at the start of cross-examination, if he had smuggled weapons to Castro, Cuba's Communist prime minister.

Judge Wilson at that time ruled the question as immaterial and said Partin did not have INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Two members of the U.S. Olympic team received suspended sentences of 3 and 3½ months today for attacking Austrian police and a third team member was acquitted. A charge of making unauthorized use of a car was withdrawn.

At today's trial, Marolt pleaded not guilty.

Questioned by Judge Frenz Obholzer Marolt said that he had been at a party in an Austrian inn and had had two beers. He left at 1 a.m.

He said he saw his French friends car with the key in the ignition. He said he got in with Buddy Fellman, 24, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, another member of the U.S. team, who was not arrested in the incident, and two Polish team members, one a girl.

"We drove to the railway station, and as I did so, we noticed police following us. I stopped at the station and as I got there, police were already at the door of the car," Marolt said.

Marolt, questioned, said he was driving about 25 miles an hour and he admitted he might have gone the wrong way on a one-way street. "But I did not see the sign and did not realize it."

"As I stopped the police began to pull me out of the car by my legs. I held on, so I wouldn't fall out, and then we scuffled after getting out of the car."

"I then ran away, but a civilian grabbed me and handed me to the police, who took me to headquarters."

The judge, who did most of the questioning, asked Marolt if he resisted arrest. The skier replied: "I braced myself against the car and grabbed the back of the seat, so that I wouldn't fall out. It is possible I hit a cop but I didn't do it deliberately."

Why did he attempt to run away, the judge asked. "I didn't want to fight them or get into trouble," he said. He said he could not recall hitting a police officer in the face, "but the arms were flying in the scuffle."

He said he was not intoxicated but was excited by the fight.

Marolt said that Farmer and Hessel were not in the car with him, but had walked to the station.

"Did you call the police Nazi swine and other names?" the judge asked. "No I did not, and I did not hear anyone use that language," Marolt said.

Hessel followed Marolt before the judge and also pleaded not guilty. He said that when he arrived at the railway station he spotted Farmer surrounded by police.

Farmer was injured in training and had a plaster cast on his arm. "He was holding up his broken arm to avoid the blows of the police," Hessel said.

"The cops immediately started beating me and twisting my arms. I was willing to go with them to the police station but I would not let them rough me up," Hessel said.

Hessel was asked if he used rude language to the police.

"I did not insult anybody in the fight. But later, when I was alone with the policemen in the police station, I showed him my handcuffed hands and said to him 'you are using Gestapo methods.'"

"The cop then hit me and kicked me," Hessel said.

U.S. Won't Be Pressured Out of Cuban Base

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER A.P. Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson met with his top military and diplomatic advisers for nearly two hours today on the Cuban crisis, and scheduled another session for the afternoon. There were signs the government might be contemplating specific actions.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the morning conference was devoted to "an examination of the facts as they are now in the possession of the United States government."

Salinger added, without elaboration, that Johnson and his key aides "obviously were doing more" than simply looking at the facts.

The President scheduled a second session for 4:30 p.m. EST.

It was believed that, out of this meeting, might come decisions on specific steps to be taken by the United States in response to the Cuban government's cutoff of fresh water to the Guantanamo U.S. Naval Base.

Johnson and his advisers, it was understood, were exploring the possibility that the Cuban government might have arranged the crisis by deliberately sending four of its fishing vessels inside American territorial waters off the Florida coast.

Johnson reported last week that the captains of the vessels, which were seized by American authorities, radioed Havana that they were inside American waters just before they were intercepted.

"The Cuban government contends that the water cutoff was a response to the seizure of the fishing boats."

It was understood that the U.S. government, contemplating the possibility of a water cutoff, studied the feasibility of equipping the Guantanamo base with a plant to convert sea water into fresh water.

A finding reportedly was made that it would be cheaper to carry water to the base by ship.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, expressed full confidence Johnson will see to it that the United States is not "parched out."

Governor to Reanalyze His Thinking

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he will have to reanalyze his thinking about voter registration in light of an opinion by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett that the state Constitution prohibits the legislature from setting up a registration system as a substitute for the poll tax in state races.

"I had assumed that Amendment 39 would make a registration system legal," Faubus said in an interview today. "Now I believe it will take a rather loose interpretation of Amendment 39 to open the way to a registration system."

Faubus appeared to be surprised by the development. He indicated that he would study the matter and discuss it with advisers before deciding what to do.

He indicated, however, that there will be no delay in a forthcoming special session of the legislature because of Bennett's opinion.

The Legislative Council begins a study of voter registration next Monday and the call for a special session is expected late this month.

Faubus said the Bennett opinion was likely to create more controversy than was anticipated during the council hearings.

Bennett's answer 2nd graf LR7.

Instant Debt Comes With Modern Life

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans have embraced instant debt along with all the other modern conveniences of family living.

Consumer credit has been growing at a record rate. Mortgage totals have swelled, with remortgaging to raise cash an increasing item.

All of this helps boost the statistics that show the general economy is bigger and better than ever.

Since savings and other family assets also have been rising—in total, if not in your particular case—financial experts pronounce the growing personal debt as still below the danger line.

It does raise some questions for bankers, manufacturers and merchants.

One is the direction of interest rates. The strong demand for consumer types of credit, added to rising borrowing at all levels of government, and to the possibility that business will be seeking more loans, too, should keep the money markets firm.

A little more oomph by any of the three might send demand for credit high enough to increase interest charges. This is even more likely since the Federal Reserve has indicated it would restrain credit if economic growth and a federal tax cut combined to threaten another round of inflation.

A second question is how much of today's general economic prosperity depends on the big expansion in credit demand. Could any reversal of today's trend to borrow more and more for the purchase of goods, services and homes spiral into a business slump?

Bankers doubt that the credit demand will slacken. And they cite as a strong point the increase in repayment of consumer credit. They say this proves both that family budgets are on the whole safely handled and that there'll be plenty of leeway for still more buying on time.

Repayments rose in most months of 1963 to a high of $4.8 billion in December from $4.6 billion in November.

But extensions of new installment credit was well ahead of that rate throughout the year. The expansion for the year over 1962 came to a record $5.7 billion, bringing the total outstanding to $53.7 billion.

Total personal assets are far above personal debts. Only a catastrophe or national emergency could upset the books. But even so, the financial experts will keep an eye on the trend of instant debt for a clue to what's ahead for business and the individual.

FARMER'S WIFE FEELS

SHE LACKS SOCIAL STATUS

Dear Helen: How can we farmers fit into society? I am a farmer's wife and every time I run into somebody from town all I hear is "Hi! Farmer!" or some other such gibberish. Most of these taunts come from relatives, but that only hurts the more.

Not long ago I was invited to a party in town. Upon being introduced one of the women said, "Well, I was prepared to meet a real farmer but you don't look like one!"

Just what do our city cousins expect us to look like? True enough, around the farm my principal attire is jeans and a shirt, or shorts in summer but we farmers' wives have the decency to confine this type of dress to our home beat. None of us would dream of going to town in jeans, shorts of Capris as do our city cousins. Please print this letter and your reply.

I want my city cousins to read your reactions. I speak also for neighboring farmers' wives plagued by the same problem.

No Co Ho.

Dear No: Gibe are an outward manifestation of inward jealousy. Your city cousins must suffer from an inferiority complex. It takes pluck plus capability to handle the dozen and one duties of a farmer's wife—to say nothing of the emergencies, and still come up smiling.

Sight of you calm, serene and well groomed, despite your arduous life, evidently infuriates these city drones.

Now that farming has become big business they may be envious too. Financially speaking, the farmer's wife has the edge on her city cousin which, in our materialistic age, also gives her the edge socially. So, hold your head high and snap your fingers at those city mice. They would do well to read my letter, "Guidance to Gracious Living."

Dear Helen: I am a 19-year-old college sophomore from a well-to-do family with parents as devoted to each other as to me and my two brothers. As a consequence my home life has been very happy. Not so my love life.

Four years ago I started going steady with a boy in my class at high. Last year he gave me an engagement ring. This upset his parents and mine. His folks just plain didn't like me. Mine liked him but thought he was too immature.

Last September he enlisted in the Army for six months. While he was gone I broke our engagement, feeling it would give us both a chance to find out if we truly loved one another.

Among the boys I dated was a junior in law school. He has asked me to marry him. Being unsure of my feelings I said neither yes nor no. Last week I bumped into my ex-fiancee on the street—just home from service. He took me to lunch and we talked for two hours. I heard all about the different girls he had dated and learned that he was re-enlisting, not having found any work to his liking here.

Last Saturday he asked me out but having a previous date I refused—though wanting desperately to be with him. Frankly, I fear to date him, having been convinced after that talk at luncheon that I'd be the one to get hurt because I do love him while he gave no evidence of loving me. Do you think it too late to revive his dead love? —Unhappy

Dear Unhappy: Your ex-fiancee must have cared a little else he would not have tried for a second date. You're young.

To Build Barges at Osceola, Ark.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Capt. A. C. Ingersoll, president of the St. Louis Shipbuilding - Federal Barge Line Corp., said Wednesday his firm will build a shipyard at Osceola, Ark., to make river barges.

He said construction will begin later this year, but would not release anticipated production volume the number of employees.

58 Convicts Are Paroled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Pardons and Paroles Board issued pardons to 58 convicts Wednesday and recommended executive clemency for seven others. They included Manuel Brandt of Berryville, who contended he had fallen out of his truck before it struck and killed a man Nov. 10, 1962. Brandt was convicted of involuntary manslaughter.

Change in Mind

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday that Dr. Edwin Dunaway of Conway has decided not to resign as chairman of the state Racing Commission. Dunaway, who has been on the commission 12 years, said it took too much of his time. Faubus also appointed Jim Reynolds of Little Rock to the state Merit System Council Tuesday for a two-year term.

Let time work out your problem. From a realistic point of view the law school junior seems like a better risk. Don't write him off.

Dear Helen: We have a 15-year-old daughter who likes a boy of different faith. She sees him, even though not allowed to date officially until her 16th birthday next November. I mean they meet at school, at sports events and on parties with other kids their own age. We don't like this. How can we make her see that he's not the boy for her? —A Visitor

Dear Visitor: Opposition only fans the flame. Refrain from criticizing the boy in question or his faith but make a point of seeing that your daughter meets plenty of other boys more likely to qualify for the role of future son-in-law. Invite them to your home, see that your daughter meets their parents. Establish friendly relationships with them yourself.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you solve it. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Execution Dates Wiped Out 4 Times

By JACK STILLMAN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — For almost three years, Preston Cobb Jr. has awaited death. The Negro, now 18, has seen the date of his execution wiped out four times.

Cobb was sentenced to death when he was 15 for the slaying of Frank C. Dumas Sr., 70, a white farmer on whose property Cobb's mother and most of her nine children lived.

Cobb admitted the slaying during his trial but later repudiated his confession.

His death sentence brought to light that Georgia has no law protecting a juvenile from the death penalty.

At his trial Cobb told a white jury that he shot Dumas to death after an argument over a fish he had caught in Dumas' pond.

"I was mad with him because he kept telling me about that little old fish I caught, and he told me he was going to blow my brains out," Cobb testified.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes. Until his conviction, few had heard of the Negro boy. The sentence brought him into the limelight.

The late Eleanor Roosevelt asked former Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia to intervene in Cobb's behalf. A Malayan attorney made a similar request of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Scores of letters were received by Vandiver and by Georgia's present governor, Carl E. Sanders, urging that they stay the boy's execution. Georgia governors, however, have no clemency powers; only the Pardon and Parole Board can commute a death sentence.

Cobb first was sentenced to die in August 1961. Court appeals have erased four execution dates and now the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is expected to set a hearing date for a new trial in the early spring. After Cobb's conviction, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hired an Atlanta Negro attorney to take over the case from the court-appointed white lawyer, J. Ben Warren.

Warren, who lives in Monticello, Ga., refused to appeal Cobb's conviction. The Negro attorney, Donald L. Hollowell, described what he called the systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries in Jasper County, and filed an appeal. He also said that Cobb had admitted the slaying under duress.

Cobb meanwhile remains in death row in Reidsville State Prison. Sometimes he reads, sometimes he does push-ups and other exercises in the small cell.

Hoffa Defense

to answer it.

Partin, a local Teamsters Union official in Baton Rouge, has told of giving the government reports on Hoffa during Hoffa's conspiracy trial in Nashville. His testimony has linked Hoffa with alleged efforts to rig that jury in his favor. That trial ended in a hung jury.

The exhaustive cross-examination by nine defense lawyers has dashed government plans to complete its case on this last day of the trial's third week.

Partin, 39, testified that he spent his days and nights with Hoffa and Hoffa's lawyers during the Nashville trial. He cited dates and places of what he said were numerous instances of alleged attempts to reach the jury.

Each of these alleged instances, he testified, were reported to Walter J. Sheridan, special assistant to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Defense attorney Harry Berke began an attempt Thursday to puncture Partin's testimony which — for the first time — linked Hoffa directly with the alleged jury tampering.

At Berke's prodding, Partin recalled a bad conduct discharge from the Marine Corps, a felony conviction while a teenager and a series of arrests on which there were no convictions.

Relating details of the fight at the station, Hessel said that he and Farmer were not trying to escape from the police but merely to get out from under their fists.

"We hadn't done anything wrong, and just wanted to stop the fighting. They were hitting and shoving us—there were 10 policemen against us."

Hessel was followed to the stand by Farmer, whose story was similar to Hessel's. He said he was not drunk.

"I had had something to drink and was happy—in a mood to sing," he said.

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The owner of a car which Austrian police allege was stolen by three members of the U.S. Olympic team told a court trying the Americans today: "They are good friends of mine—they had my permission to use my car anytime."

The three U.S. team members—skier Bill Marolt, 20, Aspen, Colo., and tobogganists Mike Hessel, 21, Eugene, Ore., and George Farmer, 25, Seattle, Wash.—appeared in an Austrian court today after their arrest Thursday in a pre-dawn chase and a mid-city clash with police.

The charges against them alleged that they had made unauthorized use of the car of Andre Montant, owner of a French ski sweater factory that supplies the U.S. Winter Olympic team.

Montant, called as a witness, was asked if he planned to file charges against Marolt. Montant replied, "No, of course not."

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Three members of the U.S. Winter Olympic team were formally charged today with resisting arrest and unauthorized use of an automobile.

The three appeared before an Austrian judge amid charges by U.S. team officials that police manhandled and injured them in jail after a pre-dawn auto chase and a chase with police Thursday.

They are skier Bill Marolt, 20, Aspen, Colo., and tobogganists Mike Hessel, 21, Eugene, Ore., and George Farmer, Seattle, Wash.

The preliminary charges against them had included car theft, a much more serious offense.

The police chief of this Winter Olympics city asserted Farmer and Hessel were dead drunk and went berserk when police arrested them at a railway station.

Dr. Karl Klee, Marolt's lawyer, said the Swiss owner of the car was a friend of Marolt and apparently does not plan to press charges. If convicted on a charge of resisting arrest, the three Americans would face up to five years in jail.

Klee said Marolt had borrowed the car early Thursday to go to the Innsbruck railway station and the owner's driver reporting it missing. He said when police arrested Marolt, Farmer and Hessel were standing nearby and went to the youth's assistance.

Officials of the U.S. ski and toboggan teams charged that Farmer and Hessel were "beaten up and kicked around" at the police station. Police Chief Karl Junger said he was investigating these charges.

Bill Kerth, manager of the U.S. toboggan team, said after visiting the athletes Thursday that Farmer's face was puffed and his eyes swollen and that Hessel had an eye injury. He said Marolt was not injured.

Mexican President to Meet Johnson

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos will enjoy a spectacular hillside view of this desert resort when they meet for talks later this month.

Wealthy real estate man Louis Taubman has offered the President use of his lavish stone and glass home, nestled on the slope of mountains two miles west of here.

President and Mrs. Johnson are expected to stay at the Taubman home and Johnson is slated to meet with Lopez Mateos there beginning Feb. 21.

The Mexican president will stay at the Riviera Hotel in Palm Springs.

A Possible Thrill Killer at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Police say a thrill killer may have been the sniper who murdered a newlywed couple as they strolled down a scenic stretch of beach.

Dying Navy Radioman 3. C. Johnny Ray Swindle, 19, and his slain bride of three weeks, Joyce, 19, both of Jasper, Ala., were found by a passerby on Wednesday night.

"There is absolutely no indication of motive, unless the missing wallet indicates robbery," said Police Capt. Ed De Bolt.

"There is no triangle in the background of the two young people, nothing which would lead us to their killing."

Said Lt. William Schenck: "It's entirely possible they were killed by someone they never knew—someone whose only motive was excitement."

On the ledge of a retaining wall, police found a box of Valentine candy. Investigators assume the Swindles bought the candy while on their stroll. But, they said, it could have been left behind as a deranged killer's calling card.

Police said the gunman perched on a ledge on a cliff overlooking the Pacific Ocean. The moonless night concealed him and the surf's roar muffled his shots.

The sniper fired five shots from the cliff ledge. Then he moved in to fire two more in

The 22-year-old mother of two said she hopes to become an American citizen, improve her knowledge of English and history, educate her children—but not marry.

When asked whether she had been treated fairly by the presidential investigating commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, she failed to understand the word "fairly."

Her lawyer, John M. Thorne, explained that the question meant whether she felt the interrogators treated her well, whether she liked Warren.

Her face lit up in a smile, and she said: "Oh, yes — just like my grandfather."

Mrs. Oswald said her husband, a 24-year-old ex-Marine sharpshooter, went to Mexico City on Sept. 26 because he wanted to get a visa to live in Cuba.

He also had planned, she indicated, to go to Russia after Cuba. Oswald had met her in Russia, where he went in October 1959, and tried unsuccessfully to become a Soviet citizen.

She said she knew, after he brought her to this country, that Oswald practiced rifle-shooting—not very often, but "some-

a kind of coup de grace, police said.

Swindle and his childhood sweetheart were married Jan. 18 in Jasper, Ala. They honeymooned in a three-room cottage nine blocks from where they were slain.

"He was a normal man," she replied.

"That was not normal... to shoot at anybody."

And when a reporter inquired whether she felt it was abnormal to have shot at Walker she agreed it was abnormal.

State Senators Against Repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' Senators helped defeat 48-45 Wednesday a proposal to repeal present federal excise taxes on jewelry handbags, cosmetics and furs.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., also opposed a tax bill amendment to increase the proposed new standard minimum deductions to give tax relief to low income families.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., did not vote on the amendment, which failed 71-23.

Czech Envoy Talks With 36 Cubans

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—An official from the Czechoslovakian Embassy in Washington conferred today with 36 Cubans arrested for fishing in Florida waters. The normal water supply to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, appears to depend on their fate.

The Czech Embassy's first secretary, Frantisek Telicka, talked in the Monroe County Jail gymnasium with 29 adults held in lieu of $1,000 bond each. A report on the conversation was awaited.

Then he conferred with seven juveniles, ordered freed Thursday by Criminal Court Judge Thomas Caro.

Telicka said he did not know how the seven youths would be returned to Cuba or when.

The 29 adult Cubans are held at the jail in a 10x20-foot cell without bunks.

Negro Convicted of Raping Girl

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Roosevelt Ingram, 33, a Negro of North Little Rock, was convicted Wednesday in Pulaski County Circuit Court of raping a 17-year-old Negro girl Jan. 11.

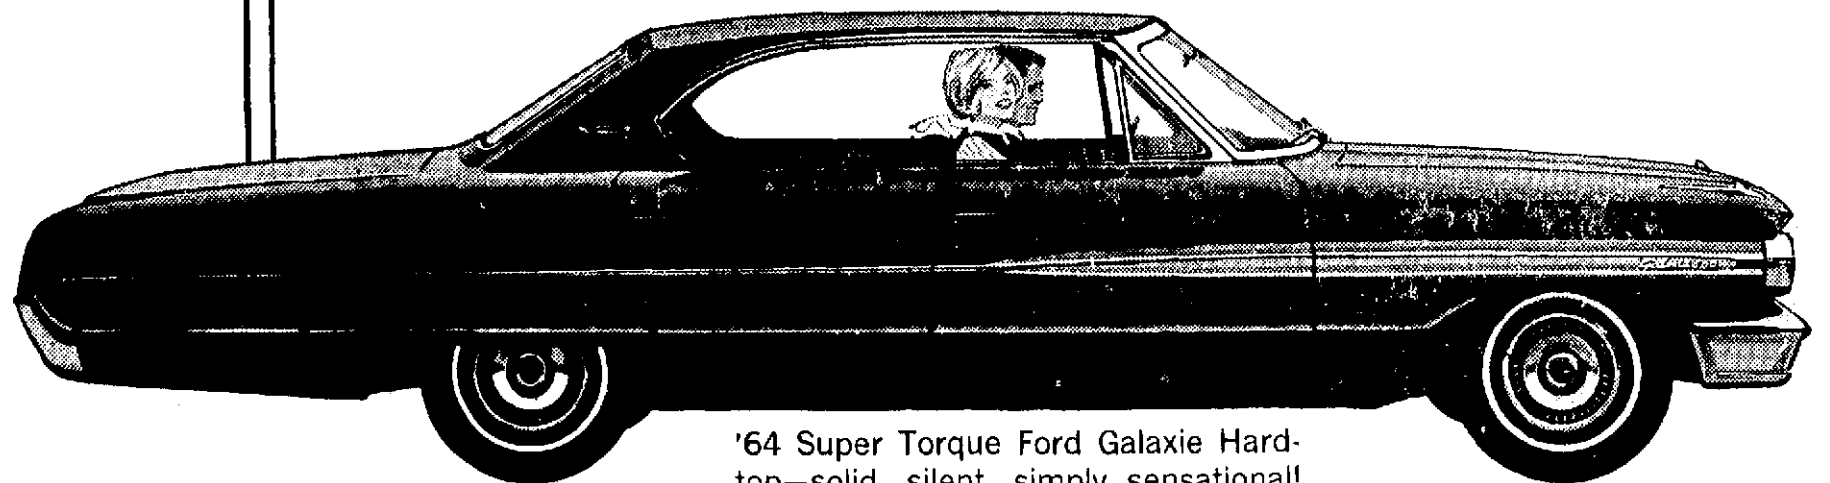

A jury of three Negroes and nine white persons fixed his penalty at life imprisonment.

Judge William J. Kirby postponed sentencing 48 hours to give defense attorneys time to appeal.

Thinks Tigers to Be Most Improved

Fifth of a series of team prospects, written by managers.)

By CHARLIE DRESSEN
Manager, Detroit Tigers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — I firmly believe the Tigers will have the most improved team in the American League in 1964. We've done more with our club than anyone else.

Through winter trades we have strengthened three departments—infield, outfield and pitching. We're quite pleased with the trade that brought Jerry Lumpe to play second base for us.

Lumpe, whom we got from Kansas City in the Rocky Colavito deal, should stabilize our infield. He's as good a second baseman as there is in baseball today, and he ought to increase our double play output. We were weak there last season with only 124, ninth in the league.

Don Demeter, whom we acquired from Philadelphia in the Jim Bunning trade, should help our outfield as much as Lumpe does the infield. Demeter adds speed and defense without any sacrifice in hitting. I'm looking forward to seeing Demeter, Al Kaline and Bill Bruton perform in the same outfield. It could be the best in the league.

Everybody knows how great Kaline is and what he can do at the plate. Bruton is dangerous when he's rested a little, as we plan to do. Demeter should hit for higher average than Colavito, and last year he hit as many home runs as Colavito. Demeter will be in center field and Bruton in left.

Behind the three regulars we have George Thomas and Jake Wood, whom we are converting from a second baseman into an outfielder. I also like the chances of Willie Horton, as impressive as any rookie hitter I've seen in a long time.

I like my infield now. Dick McAuliffe at shortstop is my kind of ball player. He's a hard-nosed player, a good hitter and is improving as a fielder all the time. Norm Cash at first base came along real fast after a slow start last year. I look for him to continue that late season pace. At third, I'm going to give Don Wert a real shot to make it. Bubba Phillips will back him up.

I look for our catching to be improved. Bill Freehan is going to be our No. 1 catcher and he'll be a good one. We traded Gus Triandos because we have confidence in Freehan. He could develop into one of the outstanding players in the league.

I'm happy with my pitching. Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham, whom we got from Kansas City, are bound to help. Rakow, I think, can be a big winner. Wickersham might be a terrific relief pitcher. Young Jack Hamilton, who came with Demeter, has a good arm.

I'm planning on Hank Aquirre, Phil Regan, Frank Lary, Mickey Lolich and Rakow in the starting rotation with Don Mossi and Wickersham doubling between spot starts and relief.

Vote Registration Measure Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Council apparently will move as quickly as possible when it begins a hearing on voter registration legislation next Monday.

The council has scheduled Benton County Rep. Hardy W. Croxton and the League of Women Voters for appearances at a 10:30 a.m. session.

The chairman of the state's two major political parties, Republican William Spicer of Fort Smith and Democrat Leon Caffelt of Little Rock, will appear at 1:30 p.m.

The council expects more individuals and groups to ask to be heard before the session.

ATOMS FOR PEACE—Twenty-three nuclear explosions generating a force of 1,830 kilotons could slash a two-mile highway and railroad through California's Bristol Mountain, as shown in this model. The blasts would move 68 million cubic yards of earth for an estimated $7 million less than conventional methods. This project is one of several under study by the Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare Program, which is concerned with developing peaceful uses for nuclear energy.

Matter of Fact

Kohl, the name of the cosmetic used from earliest times by eastern women to darken their eyelids, is in no way derived from or related to coal, the mineral. Kohl is usually composed of finely powdered antimony, but burned almond shells or frankincense are also used. The Arabic word Kohl (from which is derived alcohol) means to stain.

Dognapping Bill Meets Approval

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia House of Representatives approved a dognapping bill Wednesday that would make the offense punishable by a prison term of from 2 to 5 years.

The present penalty is a year in jail, a fine or both.

House Speaker George T. Smith, calling for the vote, said "All in favor say woof." The woofs won 134-7.

starts. It hopes to wind up the hearing within a week so Gov. Orval E. Faubus can call a special legislative session to enact a voter registration law.

The hearing now is scheduled in the council chamber but it will be moved, probably into the House chamber, if attendance is high.

Fantastic? Perhaps Not in Future

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In "Seven Days in May," the latest in a cycle of films about high politics, we are asked to swallow a whopper: that the Joint Chiefs of Staff conspire at some future date to depose a president.

Fantastic? In this high-voltage movie the plot seems chillingly realistic. The result is a film that is absorbing throughout its two-hour length and almost unbearably tense during much of it.

"Seven Days in May" is not without its faults, but they do not stem from the actors. All of them perform with high skill, lending conviction to a tale that might easily have dipped into the preposterous.

Picture this: a Marine colonel, secretary to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, begins getting hints that something strange is going on. High commanders send messages about a race-track pool. A secret commando unit has been set up near El Paso. The general has been playing footsie with right-wingers and lying about it. Congress has been kept in the dark about an upcoming practice alert.

The colonel gathers enough suspicions to impel him to seek an audience with the President. Then the President must determine: Are the colonel's suspicions correct? If so, what can be done to forestall the sedition?

The ingeniously devised yarn of the Fletcher Knebel-Charles W. Bailey II novel topped the best-seller lists for many weeks. The film version is likely to score equal success. It is timely, hard-hitting and perfectly cast.

No American actor can convey more conviction than Fredric March, and he makes an ideal president—philosophical in his lack of popularity, jealous of his constitutional rights, capable of decisive action.

March is followed closely by

Four GOPs Want to Be Nominated

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are at sixes and sevens, or eights.

Four have announced they want their party's presidential nomination although why two of them think they have a chance is a mystery.

Four others, more reticent, deny they seek the nomination but don't deny they'd accept a draft. In fact, three say they would.

Some of the eight are jibing at one another and most are jibing at President Johnson and his programs.

The harshest criticism so far is from Sen. Barry Goldwater, of Arizona. He called Johnson a "highwayman of the bureaucratic spoils system."

Goldwater, 55, and these three are the active candidates, all campaigning in the New Hampshire primary:

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 55; Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, oldest of the candidates at 66; and Harold E. Stassen, 56, now a Philadelphia lawyer, who made a big pitch for the nomination in 1948 but lost.

Goldwater, far to the right of the others, like the others claims he could run things better. He is critical not only of Johnson but of Goldwater, too, and for good measure he has taken Edmond O'Brien as the senator from Georgia and the president's close ally. He combines charm with political acumen, and his humanness is ever apparent.

The nominal stars, Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas, perform with their usual skill as the egomaniacal general and the suspicious Marine. Ava Gardner supplies a welcome note of femininity in three brief scenes.

a swipe at former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is one of the reticent four.

Nixon, who shows plenty of signs of hoping for the nomination while steadfastly insisting he won't seek it, only recently said he would accept a draft. It's hard to figure out why Stassen is in the race. He was the "boy wonder" governor of Minnesota—from 1938 to 1943—but has never been elected to anything since.

Why is he trying for the nomination now? "To enlarge the debate," he says, and to try for the nomination. This week he promised New Hampshire an international airport if he gets elected.

But then it's hard to say why Sen. Smith—a charming woman and excellent senator and politician who has been in Congress since 1940 and has never lost an election—thinks she has a fiddler's chance for the presidential spot.

She herself is extremely vague on why she's even trying.

It's from the four reticent Republicans that the party may actually pick its candidate. Besides Nixon, now 51, the others are: Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, 47; Michigan's Gov. George Romney, 56; and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to South Viet Nam.

After losing the presidency to John F. Kennedy in 1960, Nixon tried his luck again, this time for the governorship of California in 1962, and lost again. Immediately afterwards, in bitter criticism of the treatment he got from the press, he told reporters that was his last news conference.

He even said that "under no circumstances would he accept a draft." This seemed final enough.

As 1963 wore on Nixon was acting like a candidate. And 12 days ago he said he would accept a draft.

Scranton frankly says that while he won't seek the nomination he'd accept it but would enter no primaries. He has one big handicap: He and his qualifications are hardly known outside Pennsylvania. He served one term in Congress.

Lodge, appointed ambassador to South Viet Nam late last year by President Kennedy, has not held elective office since Kennedy took his Senate seat away from him in 1952. When he ran for the vice presidency in 1960 on the ticket with Nixon, he lost again.

But he is a respected figure among Republicans, helped persuade Dwight D. Eisenhower to run in 1952, and now in his critical Viet Nam post denies he's a candidate this year.

Reminiscent of Big Stick Diplomacy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In March 1960, President Dwight D. Eisenhower ordered the government to help Cuban refugees organize, train and equip a force so they might, "when the time came if ever" as he explained later, overthrow Fidel Castro.

A year and a month later, a small invasion force at Cuba's Bay of Pigs was destroyed—killed or captured. It was "a failure of United States policy that led to a failure of United States power," says Chet Huntley.

The jig-saw of events that resulted in the invasion fiasco was painstakingly pieced together Tuesday night by NBC in a "white paper" documentary.

Summing up the complicated events that led to disaster, Huntley noted that "the tactics were reminiscent of the days of the United States' 'big stick' diplomacy." He called it "probably the low point, the worst moment for John F. Kennedy in his three years in the White House."

On Sunday, NBC will present a second "white paper" showing a shiner side of the coin—the success of our policy in connection with the 1962 missile crisis.

Pat Fontaine, NBC's "Today girl" for the past 18 months, has departed from that morning program as, apparently, all "Today girls" must.

Her successor is expected to be Maureen O'Sullivan, a fine actress and handsome woman, but a bit mature for that "girl" title.

ABC reporter Lisa Howard has wangled her way back into Cuba. She hopes to do interviews and travel—with a Canadian crew carrying the camera equipment. Last time she was there she got a long interview with Prime Minister Castro.

THE STORY: While hiding in Maggie O'Brien's cabin, Gail and Duffey discover they are in love.
XVII
"We've got a thing to clean up. Your husband's dead; Jimmy Turner is dead; my ex-colleague is dead, killed in prison; and it's all happened since I got out after a framed car-theft rap. My prison friend was Solly's brother-in-law. Your husband fought with Charlton. You, Jack Charlton, probably Maggie-you all know Turner. The long arm of coincidence is too curiously conspicuous. The one thing I learned from Jimmy while we were sharing our trip through the pen was that if I really was interested in the car-theft operation I shouldn't look for the answers in California. He gave me two names. One of them was killed before I arrived. Other tried to kill me. But the decision wasn't his. At least, he left the room long enough to make a phone call, say."
"What are you getting to?"
"Solly called somebody to find out what to do about me. It was a little after one o'clock last Friday. Was it Charlton he called, Gail?"
"I, I don't know."
"What do you mean you don't know?"
"There was a call, an odd one. No names were mentioned. I, I remember because it was unusual for Solly to call Jack. Usually it was the other way around, and usually Jack was annoyed when Solly called."
"What did Charlton say?"
"Told me to get off the phone. I had taken the call. Jack picked up the phone in back after I buzzed."
"Before that—Solly—what did he say?"
"Only that he had to talk to Jack." She paused. "Only now I remember thinking that he had a bee up his bonnet. Wondered who'd put it there."
"Who do you think killed your husband? And why? Why, Gail?"
"Duffey. I don't know."
"Pellet from a pneumatic rifle." I said. "Not an easy trick. Not when your target's riding a wild horse. No easier than killing a man by trying to ride over him with a motorcycle. And now, just a couple of days after he picked on Charlton, your late husband is dead. And it took some real fancy shooting. Not the kind Charlton could do. Not unless your sweet Jack has some merit badges I don't know about."
"Duffey, you saved his life. He owed you something. He said so."
"What about his shooting?"
"Jack was scared to death of guns. He wouldn't even wear one on his hip for any of the play cowboy events. Said too many fools had shot their own legs off."
I shook my head. "Sure hope Maggie's private detectives get onto that redhead."
"And if they don't?"
"I will. Somewhere between here and Nogales."
"What do you mean by that?"
"That the car ring was working into Mexico. One more thing, a funny angle. Jimmy wouldn't give me the details, not even after I saved his life. But this much—he told me not to worry about the smell of money. That there was no money involved. Not in the car transaction stage."
"Duffey."
"Yes."
"Bend and pucker."
It was quite a kiss. Very gentle and warm to begin with. Then suddenly, it was considerably more than that.
I served our two plates with the butter melting into the white snow of the baked potatoes and the steaks resting in small rivers of their own juices. Her first bite was tentative. On the second she proposed to me. Considering that even the salad was cold and crisp and had a tendency to bite back, I didn't blame her, and accepted. Then we did the dishes together.
I washed. She wiped. "I had forgotten there could be someone like you."
"But you're going to marry me?"
"Yes, Duffey. no, yes, yes, yes!"
And then we were at it again with a dish towel falling between our feet. I remembered the girl in the cage in Las Vegas and wondered what the difference in our prison was. I said, finally, "We know what my trap was. What was yours?"
She started to say something and didn't. Her eyes seemed to change focus. They went from the sudden, angry response to my question to something quieter, something more reflective. She said, "Let's finish these lovely dishes and then we'll have a drink in front of the fire."

Choir Needs Money
PAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Richard Brothers, director of the University of Arkansas Schola Cantorum, said Wednesday that the group was considering ways to raise money so it could accept an invitation to sing July 12 at a festival at Aix-en-Provence, France. The Schola won the International Polyphonic competition in 1962 at Arezzo, Italy.

His Fired Up Idea Backfires
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Henry Lopez, 45, a kitchen worker, knew how to beat the cold when he accidentally was locked inside a food freezer at a restaurant.
He built a fire with vegetable crates.
The idea backfired.
Employees opened the freezer door 10 minutes later and found Lopez warm but unconscious.
Too much smoke, doctors said.
He was reported in satisfactory condition after hospital treatment.
Would Clear Work for Hospital
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday he will ask a special session of the legislature to clear the way for about $500,000 worth of renovation work at the State Hospital.
Faubus said $130,000 could be transferred from the State Hospital Fund to the Rehabilitation Service Fund, making the state eligible for about $370,000 in federal matching funds for air condition and heating work in two or three buildings.

Bobcats Play Host Saurday to Malvern

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Editor

The day of reckoning approaches.

Tomorrow night the Bobcats will go up against league-leading Malvern on Hope's home court.

The Leopards, balancing precariously on the top rung of the 4AA ladder, are also defending conference champs. They are the only AA team to rate among the top teams in the state.

Malvern sports a rough 5-1 loop record, having fallen only to the Buckaroos of Smackover. A crowded second place finds that position being shared by the Bobcats, the Camden Panthers, the Smackover Bucks, and the Fairview Cardinals. All have 3-3 records.

Hope has met Malvern on one other occasion this season. The Leopards took that engagement 66-62 after quite a battle, the game was played at Malvern.

One thing in favor of the Cats Saturday night is the fact that they will be playing at "Home Sweet Home." That helps an awful lot.

Some of the big guns for the Leopards are Chancellor, who would resemble the jolly green giant, but he isn't green. He stands a mere 6'6", and when he jumps into the air, he has to shoot down at the goal. He is also tough with the rebounds. He scored 30 points against Hope during the last match.

Two other sakers to watch for are 6'3" Loser, who scored 18 last time, and 6'1" Stanfield. Coach Billy Mitchell states, "This game is a necessity if we are to win the round-robin."

One point that seems to need a little clarification: a team can win the District without winning the round-robin, which is what is now in progress. It merely decides where the District tournament will be held. Thus, a team could end the season with a 0-12 record, yet still take the tourney, and along with it, the crown. Also, the top three teams in the District will go to the state AA-AAA tournament held in Little Rock every year.

The Junior game has been cancelled. The first game Saturday night will be the Hope "B" team. It will begin at 7:00. The Senior game will begin at 8:00. Local fans are urged to see this game unless the gym washes away before tomorrow night. Otherwise, be there.

Trio Could Steal Show at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 1,000-yard run, featuring Noel Carroll, Charley Buchta and Derek McClean, could be the show-stealer tonight in the 20th Philadelphia Inquirer Games.

With a trimmed-down field in prospect—many of the top stars on the indoor circuit are skipping the Friday event for major Saturday attractions—the five-man assault on the 1,000 yards as the top attraction and most likely record-breaker.

Carroll is the man to beat. The rangy, powerful Villanova runner reeled off a fantastic 1:48.7 half-mile lap—more than a full second faster than the listed indoor record for the distance—in anchoring the Wildcats' indoor record 7:26.4 two-mile relay in Boston last week.

The 6-foot-2, 185-pound Irish citizen appears to be just rounding into top form and could be shooting for Peter Snell's 2:06 flat indoor mark, particularly if he gets opposition.

McClean, of Ireland and making his first start on the indoor circuit, and Buchta of the Quantico Marines could be the men to push him. Ed Duchini of Georgetown and John Dunkleberg of North Carolina, a top half-miler, complete the strong field.

Clutch Goalie Puts R. Wings Back on Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clutch goalie Terry Sawchuk picked an opportune time to come up with his 96th career shutout and the Detroit Red Wings were back in fourth place in the National Hockey League today.

Sawchuk, the league's all-time shutout leader, posted his fifth blanking of the season Thursday night as the slumping Wings defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 in Detroit.

The Wings regained fourth place by one point from the New York Rangers, who lost to the Bruins 4-0 in Boston.

No other teams were scheduled.

The Wings not only broke a five-game winless streak, but also blocked Chicago from sole possession of first place. The Black Hawks, who defeated Detroit 4-2 in Chicago Wednesday night, are tied for the lead with the Montreal at 62 points each.

Detroit scored three times in the second period on goals by Larry Jeffrey, Floyd Smith and Parker MacDonald and added the final tally in the last period with Bruce MacGregor clicking. The veteran Sawchuk had 27 saves.

The Bruins turned back the Rangers for the second straight night, having defeated them 3-2 in New York Wednesday night. Before the home-and-home series, the New Yorkers had a 9-3-3 record in their last 15 starts and had only lost twice to the Bruins in their first 10 meetings.

Goalie Ed Johnston turned in his sixth shutout of the season—tops in the league—while the Bruins closed within seven points of the Rangers. Johnston made 26 saves, fire in a third-period span when Boston was short-handed.

Being Born on Skates Is Helpful

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—It may not be essential to be born on skates or skis to win an Olympic medal, but the ninth Winter Games here show that it helps.

Three Austrian girls who grew up on mountain slopes swept Thursday's downhill ski race. Christl Haas, tall and husky, won it, followed by Edith Zimmerman, petite and pretty, and Traudl Hecher, a sparkling-eyed pixie.

The 1,500 speed skating honors went to Ants Antson, a Russian from icy Estonia, with second place going to Holland's Cornelius Verkerk and third to Norway's Villy Haugen.

Manfred Schnelldorfer, from West Germany where figure skating is a major spectator sport, took the gold medal in the men's competition. He finished just ahead of the favored European champion, France's Alain Calmat. Scott Allen of the United States, who had his first skates when he was one, took the bronze.

The American, who will be 15 Saturday, is the youngest competitor to win a Winter Olympics medal.

The United States used to be strong on figure skating. It won the men's gold medals at the last four games. But a tragic plane crash in 1961 wiped out the American figure skating team. A European victory this time was no surprise. But Allen showed that the gold medal be back in America in 1968.

The United States, however, suffered a disappointment Thursday in the women's downhill where Jean Saubert, who already had a silver and bronze medal, could do no better than 26th.

The Lakeview, Ore. girl blamed difficulty with waxing her skis for her slowness. She was timed in 2:03.79 compared with 1:55.39 for Miss Haas.

The other Americans in the event were Starr Walton of Sacramento, Calif., 14th in 2:01.45; Joan Lee Hannah of Franconia, N.H., 15th in 2:01.88, and Margo Lee Walters of Salt Lake City, 21st in 2:02.68.

Any thought that America might pick up another medal in speed skating to go with the gold prize that Terry McDermott of Essexville, Mich. won in the 500 meters were completely dashed.

Anton won in a comparatively slow time on ice that was far from good because the sun stayed behind clouds and did not produce the slight surface sweat that skaters like.

Anton won in 2:10.3, with the best American Dick Hunt of La Crescenta, Calif. 15th in 2:14.4. Howard Campbell of Paramount, Calif., was 25th in 2:16.4; Ed Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., 26th in 2:16.8 and Floyd Bedbury of St. Paul, 42nd in 2:21.3.

Almost Like a Family Reunion

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — When high school players go off to college, they usually don't see much of their high school teammates.

But it was a different story Thursday night at Magnolia, when Southern State defeated Henderson 84-74 in an Arkansas Interscholastic Conference basketball game.

Five players that saw action were from Sparkman.

They were, from Southern, Danny Denton and John Selph, and from Henderson, Bob Shirron, Hubert Langley and Thomas Presley.

State Defeats Murray Team

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Jerry Rook hit 32 points and Jerry Hudgins sacked 24 to lead Arkansas State to an 85-74 basketball victory at Jonesboro Thursday night over Murray State of Kentucky.

The score was 37-37 at half-time.

The Indians waded out of a see-saw battle in the second half, taking the lead 42-41 with 16:45 to play and never trailed again.

With 1:17 to play, Arkansas held an 83-68 advantage.

The victory gave Arkansas a 12-5 record, to 9-8 for Murray.

3 Americans Qualify in Slalom Race

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Three of America's top skiers—Bud Werner, Billy Kidd and James Huega—qualified today for Saturday's men's slalom race while Canada won its first gold medal and Russia its 23rd in the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

The slalom apparently is America's only hope to add to its medal collection, which consists of two Alpine skiing medals for Jean Saubert, a figure skating bronze for 14-year-old Scotty Allen and the lone gold by speed skater Terry McDermott.

Vic Emery, a towering 5-foot-2 Canadian, drove his four-man bobsled to an upset victory over the favored Italians on the dangerous Igls chute and Claudia Boyarskikh, a 25-year-old Russian school teacher, anchored a Soviet triumph in the women's 15-kilometer relay ski race.

It was the third gold medal for Miss Boyarskikh. Russia now has an all-time high of 10 gold, eight silver and five bronze.

The men's slalom qualification runs were staged on the steep slope of the Bergitzkogel Mountain, on the outskirts of Innsbruck. Twenty-five qualified today and 25 qualify Saturday before the finals.

Werner, 27, a 10-year international veteran from Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Kidd, 29, from Stowe, Vt., are the chief U.S. hopes although Huega, 20, from Tahoe City, Calif., had the best giant slalom time before being disqualified for missing a gate.

FAR FLUNG—Nancy McCredie shows the strain as she puts the shot 52 feet, 11 1/2 inches for a women's indoor world record in the Maple Leaf Games in Toronto. The home-grown miss' heave added almost three feet to the record set in 1958 by Earlene Brown of Los Angeles.

NYU Seems to Be Making a Comeback

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NYU, regarded by many as the bust of the season only a month ago, appears to be on the way back in college basketball.

Second ranked nationally in the preseason Associated Press poll, the Violets from New York City toppled from their high perch when they were beaten by Wagner, a minor team from Staten Island.

Three other defeats by major schools—Toledo, Michigan and St. Joseph's, Pa.—left the Violets with a disappointing 6-4 mark in January when they took a three-week break for exams.

The rest seemingly has dispelled whatever was wrong with the Violets. Their one-two punch All-America Barry Kramer and Happy Hairston, have been in old time form in three straight victories over Santa Clara, Army and Holy Cross since resuming competition.

They crushed the Crusaders 103-83 Thursday night with Hairston getting 38 points and Kramer 27 for a combined total of 65. The victory was another step in a February drive that the Violets hope will earn them an at-large berth in the NCAA championship tournament next month.

The game, part of a double-header at Madison Square Garden, featured a slim national program. None of the Top Ten teams in the AP poll were in action.

LaSalle erased a 13-point deficit and beat Manhattan 75-62 in the opener of the Garden twin bill as Curt Fromal and Frank Corace combined for 42 points.

Nick Milasanovich got a lay-up with two seconds left to force an overtime, then added four quick points in the extra period to lead Clemson to an 83-81 victory over Georgia. Jim Brennan also starred for Clemson, getting 30 points and passing to Milasanovich for the tying basket.

Wilt Chamberlain flipped in 40 points as the San Francisco Warriors beat the Detroit Pistons 104-97 and tightened their hold on first place in the loose Western Division race of the National Basketball Association.

Chamberlain and Wayne Hightower combined for 34 points in the second half as the Warriors pulled away after leading by only 60-59 at the half.

The victory at San Jose Thursday night was San Francisco's fourth straight and 10th in a row at "home" for the Warriors. Bailey Howell's 33 points kept the Pistons in contention all the way.

The Boston Celtics nipped the Baltimore Bullets 94-92 and the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the New York Knicks 128-117 in the other NBA games Thursday.

Bill Russell was the big noise as the Celtics weathered a closing Baltimore rally to edge the Bullets before 10,210 at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House in College Park, Md. Big Bill grabbed 34 rebounds and scored 15 points.

Walt Bellamy tallied 29 points for the Bullets for the game's high scoring honors.

Hal Greer scored 33 points, including 12 in the final quarter to balk a New York rally as the 76ers handed the visiting Knicks their fourth straight defeat. Al Butler led the Knicks with 25.
